WANTS NORRIS OUT OF PARTY

BATTLE LINES FORMING

Followers of Nebraska Senator Demand Ousting of Lucas as Party Leader.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—President Hoover and the Republican national committee had squarely before them today a challenge to "eradicate" Senator Norris of Nebraska, from the party.

Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican national committee, brought forth the issue in a statement issued yesterday through the national committee in defending his acknowledged financing of a campaign against Senator Norris last election in favor of the Democratic candidate.

Followers of Senator Norris among independents in the senate Republican fold have called upon the Republican national committee to oust Lucas. They are preparing to trace further the Republican opposition to Norris in the last campaign.

Party Battle Impends

The issue is drawn for one of the most involved Republican battles since the split of the party in 1912. Chairman Fess of the national committee has declaerd a hands-off policy on the row but Senator Howell of Nebraska has called for ejection of Lucas.

Here is the Lucas stand:

"To accept office at the hands of his party and then viciously oppose its policies, principles and leadership brings an intolerable situation and one which must be abdicated if the party is to live.

"'Such conduct by Senator Norris has been revolting and until the leaders of the Republican party not only fail to support but give their active opposition to men like Senator Norris, they are not doing

COLLEGE PRESIDENT ATTACKS AMENDMENT

Dr. E. M. Hopkins of Dartmouth Declares Dry Law Proven Failure.

By The Associated Press

HANOVER, N. H. Dec. 22— Dr. Ernest Martin Hopkins, president of Dartmouth college, in his first public statement on the prohibition question, today declared his opposition to the eighteenth amendment.

He outlined his attitude in a letter to the national temperance council composed of the principal officers of national temperance organizations, in reply to a request from the council for a statement of his views. In it, he said: "I do not see how individuals or organizations whose solicitude is for building up a spirit of temperance can continue either to believe in or support the theory of the practice of the eighteenth amendment as defined in current legislation."

He previously has refrained from making any public statement in the belief that to do so would create misunderstanding in regard to the attitude of the college and because he felt that practice might eventually show prohibition to be conducive to temperance.

BURGLARS TAKE TORCH TO BURN WAY TO MONEY

TAKE $51 AND CHECKS

Acetylene Welder Obtained from Plant Before Raiders Start Work.

Two burglars early this morning earned for themselves $51, a number of checks, and titles of master-burglars when they carried out what appeared to be well-laid plans to loot the Osgood Co. filling station according to police reports.

Nearly half a dozen times in recent months burglars have entered the station, but have been unable to "crack" a safe in which the money is kept, police say.

These particular two were titled past masters at their art when they entered the Osgood plant, obtained an acetylene welding outfit, dragged in to the station, and burned their way into the safe.

The welding outfit was dragged two blocks to a position behind the station. A rear windw in the building was knocked out, and through this hole the nozzle of the burner, attached to the end of a long hose, was pushed. One of the men had apparently forced his way through the front door according to police.

After piercing the heavy steel with the acetylene burners, the burglars sorted out $51 and checks from the contents of the safe and escaped.

Two men were seen near the station this morning, but were not suspected at the time, it was reported. Tracks in the snow gave added evidence that two men participated in the burglary.

Several months ago, bandits held up the operator of the station shortly after daybreak and escaped with money and loot.

BLAST PUTS OUT GAS WELL BLAZE

"Fire Eater" Brothers Do Daring Stunt To Halt Oklahoma Fire Menace.

By The Associated Press

WEWOKA, Okla., Dec. 22—The burning No. 2 A. B. Douglas gas well in the Wewoka field was snuffed out today with a 45-pound shot of nitro gelatin but its wild flow of oil and gas continued to create a menace.

Two brothers, "fire eaters" of the mid-continent oil fields, extinguished the 150-foot flame with the powerful blast after an airplane trip to Tulsa for the explosive. Attempts to "shoot out" the well failed yesterday.

M. M. Kinley and Harry Kinley, the brothers, crept to the gasser's edge under the protection of a stream of water, placed the asbestos-covered nitro on a "shelf" and exploded it by electricity. The flame, burning since early Friday, snapped out.

The gasser, with an estimated daily flow of 60,000,000 cubic feet of gas and 800 barrels of oil, is a mile south of this city of 10,000 population.

Officials of the Deep Rock corporation, producers of the Douglas, believed from one to three days would be required to cap the well.

4 ESCAPE DEATH IN MAIL PLANE CRASH

Passenger Slightly Burned When Ship Catches Fire; Mail Damaged.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 22—Four persons narrowly escaped death and part of a 1,500 pound load of air mail was destroyed early today in the crash of a trimotored plane of the Western Air Express, Inc., from Salt Lake City into a house near Alhambra terminal of the air line.

The crash occurred when the big plane, piloted by Bart Cox, veteran flier, struck high tension wires on one boundary of the field. A. Ousterhaut of Whoming, a passenger, was burned slightly. Describing a plane hurtled into the side of the fiery path through the darkness the home of A. L. Toner at the edge of the field. Cox, George Sherwood, co-pilot and Ousterhaut leaped as it struck.

The Toner residence burst into flames, ignited by the blazing forward structure of the plane.

While Ousterhaut ran to find treatment for burns about his hands, the two pilots entered the home. They found Toner, alone and dazed.

The greater part of the cargo was damaged by fire and water. The value of the mail load was not made known.

Welfare Worker Solves Problems for Needy Here

SOLVING how to provide for a little brood of lively, growing youngsters, how to keep up the payments on a home in times of unemployment, where to get a few luxuries which will mean more than medicine to an ailing wife and mother, and thousands of other problems which have become burdens to the wage earner and head of the house are part of the day's work to Mrs. Jane Alexander of the Family Welfare society, as she sits in her office on the second floor at the Y. M. C. A. building.

Here, too, comes the mother, whose business it is to be wage-earner and homemaker combined, with her economic problem or on some matter of health or provision. And always the visitor leaves with some part of the burden lifted and a brighter outlook for the weeks and months ahead, for this slightly built, brown eyed Marion residents still have time to enter the home decoration contest for $100 merchandise prizes, officials of the C., D. & M. Electric Co., which is sponsoring the contest, announced today.

Entries will be received at the C., D. & M. Electric Co. store on South Main street until Tuesday at 6 p. m., C. C. Roberts, manager, said. A residence must be officially registered at the store before it is eligible to any one of the five merchandise prizes.

The contest will come to a close Tuesday night when judging begins at 7 p. m. Judges are Mrs. Walter Hane, president of the Art club, Dr. F. R. Mann, chairman of the city park commission, and Mrs. H. K. Mouser, president of the Federated Women's clubs, it was announced by Roberts.

A number of Marion homes are already entered in the contest, officials of the company reported today. Marionites are urged by Roberts to drive around the city any night early this week to view the elaborate and scenic decorations on homes entered in the contest.

Five merchandise prizes totaling $100 are offered by the C., D. & M. Electric Co. to winners of the contest. A winning home will be selected from each quarter of the city, with Main and Center streets dividing lines. A grand prize will go to the best of the four winners.

KING WINTER COMES WITH SHORTEST DAY

Sun Reaches Most Southerly Point as Return Trip Begins.

Winter made its official bow today, the shortest day of the year, when the sun reached its most southerly point and began its way northward again.

The season began at 8:40 a. m., according to government meteorologists at the United States weather bureau. At that time the sun reached the point in the ecliptic at which it was farthest south from the equator, a point known as the winter solstice.

Daylight was to last only nine hours and 19 minutes today, the sun having risen at 7:51 a. m. and being scheduled to set at 5:10 p. m.

The word solstice, which refers to the position of the sun on the opening of the summer and winter season, comes from the Latin and means the apparent standing still of the sun.

VETERAN RAILROADER GIVEN SERVICE PIN

C. E. Sargent Honored on Completion of 50 Years with Road.

A 50-year diamond service pin, the gift of J. J. Bernet, president of the road, was presented C. E. Sargent, local C. & O. railroad freight agent, at a testimonial dinner given by employes and officials of the road Saturday night in the Harding Hotel.

Guests included agents of other railroads passing through Marion as well as W. H. Pohler, general yardmaster.

E. R. Cott, supervisor of safety on the road, presided as toastmaster. Others who spoke were W. L. Roller, division engineer; H. H. Pierce, Delaware agent, and Bert Brashares, cashier at the local freight house.

Letters from officials of the road complimenting Sargent for his half century of service with the C. & O. and Hocking Valley were read by the toastmaster.

Sargent on Saturday celebrated his fiftieth year with the organization. He began working for the Hocking Valley as night telegraph operator here on Dec. 20, 1880, and with the exception of a few years spent at Delaware and Fostoria, has worked in Marion most of the half-century period. He has been freight agent for 32 years.

TO REPORT SOON

Expect Enforcement Group to Finish Work in Few Days.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22—Members of the law enforcement commission expect the next few days will bring a decision on what will be written into their prohibition report.

The members, while confident they can get the recommendations before the President about Jan. 1, have not yet, according to authoritative word, reached agreement upon the principal points. The commission apparently has decided to disregard entirely the Clark decision holding invalid the eighteenth amendment. There had been suggestions that since the decision had been placed before the supreme court by direct appeal filed last Saturday, the commission might hold up its recommendations.

As the group reassembled today it had for the first time its full membership of eleven.

MAJOR SHEPARD GUILTY, FACES LIFE IN PRISON

Verdict Specifies That Capital Punishment Shall Not Be Imposed.

JURY HAS LONG SESSION

Makes Finding After Deliberating Over Officer's Fate Many Hours.

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Kans., Dec. 22—Major Charles A. Shepard was convicted today on a charge of having fatally poisoned his second wife. The jury verdict carried a sentence of life imprisonment, specifying that capital punishment should not be imposed.

Arriving at the federal building at 9 a. m., from the hotel, the jurors began the third day of discussion and balloting.

Shepard professed belief he would be acquitted speedily.

Shepard Disappointed

Expressing disappointment when the jury completed its second day without reaching a verdict, the 59-year-old officer revealed he had arranged to leave Kansas City last night for Fitzsimmons hospital, in Denver.

"But what can we do?" he said. "We are helpless."

Meanwhile, Miss Grace Brandon, pretty 24-year-old government witness and alleged motive for the fatal poisoning of Mrs. Zenana Shepard at Fort Riley, Kas., June 15, 1929, was to report this morning for resumption of her duties as a stenographer at Brooks Field, Tex.

Jurors Show Strain

The jurors, showing the strain of their responsibility, retired at 7 p. m. Sunday without revealing the trend of the balloting. They received the case at 2:58 p. m. Saturday after a trial lasting almost three weeks in which approximately 100 witnesses testified.

The assignment of Major Shepard in the fall of 1928 to the flight surgery school of Brooks Field, near San Antonio, Tex., started a chain of events which the government asserted led the army tuberculosis specialist into a love affair which caused him to kill his wife.

Defense counsel, accepting virtually the same chain of evidence declared the major innocent and said 'all he did was fall in love with another woman.'

REMOVE SLAYER TO PREVENT VIOLENCE

Fear for Safety of Negro Who Killed Rural School Teacher.

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 22—Fears for the safety of Raymond Gunn, Negro trapper charged with the murder of Miss Velma Colter, 19-year-old rural school teacher, today led Buchanan county officers to bring the prisoner here for safekeeping.

The officers, fearing further vicence from a mob which early yesterday unsuccessfully attempted to deliver the prisoner, spirited Gunn from the Buchanan county jail where he has been confined since his arrest at Maryville, Mo., his home.

As the prisoner was taken from his cell, police dispersed a group of 25 persons who had gathered in the courthouse yard. No threats were made and they filed away without resistance.

Shortly before midnight officers had been warned that men were gathering at Pumpkin Center, a filling station 20 miles north of here.

The mob of 150 persons which stormed the jail early yesterday, was disbanded by deputy sheriffs, policemen, city firemen and members of a national guard tank company.

A "steady seepage" of deposits due to withdrawals in the last few days was given as the reason for the state's action by Samuel H. Baker, president.

In a formal statement, Mr. Baker said:

THE THIRD ALARM COMING TO MARION

... fire department will ... out en masse to see "The Third Alarm" at the Marion Tuesday and Wednesday. The picture was made silent years ago, but imagine the rush and roar of the fire trucks out on a third alarm, the biggest moment in a fireman's life.

The cast includes Anita Louise, James Hall, Jean Hersholt and Hobart Bosworth.

As we remember it, the big moments come when due to carelessness of a girl working in the laundry of a children's home, that institution for orphans is burned to the ground. The mad dash of all the fire apparatus in the city to the home, was a thrill in the old silent picture. Sound effects should make it a rather breath-taking episode.

How to get an old-fashioned horse-drawn fire engine presented a problem. Two or three were available, but how to get the contraptions into practical working order was something else again. As to the three white horses so necessary with such an outfit, any number were available, but the right three to work together caused a little trouble in selection.

"REMOTE CONTROL" WITH BILL HAINES IS HIT AT PALACE

Polly Moran Adds Humor as Advisor on Beauty Questions.

HAND it to Bill Haines for his work in "Remote Control" at the Palace tonight. He's still his wise-cracking self, but this picture has more to it, than his other starring stories.

Here he's manager of a broadcasting station which is being used by a gang-leader to give out clues to his bank robbers in nightly radio talks. Haines is implicated, but proves his innocence by tracking down the real crooks. In between all this there is the Haines "line." Polly Moran, in the guise of an advisor to beauty-seeking flappers, adds to the fun. Mary Doran is a sweet leading lady and Charlie King can sing "Just a Little Closer," in a devastating manner. John Miljan is another member of the worthwhile cast.

"BROTHERS" OPENS AT OHIO THEATER

"Brothers" opened at the Ohio yesterday for a four-day run. It's another dual personality role of twin brothers separated in infancy. One is brought up in an atmosphere of wealth, the other in poverty. The rich boy, a lawyer, leads a dissolute life, ending in murder. The poor boy, a pianist in a cafe, leads a wholesome life. Because of the physical resemblance, the poor boy is accused of the crime of his twin whose identity he was unaware of until this time.

A brilliantly fought case by the rich man frees the por man of any part in the crime. Bob, the rich man, suffers a complete physical and mental collapse and is taken to a sanitorium. The twin is asked to impersonate Bob in the household so that Bob's wife will know nothing of his condition. He consents and while there falls in love with his brother's wife. He decides he can't go on with the deception, but as he is ready to leave, word of Bob's death comes. The way is clear for him, and of course he changes his mind about leaving.

"LOTTERY BRIDE" TO CLOSE AT MARION

A talking, singing picture, is "Lottery Bride" closing at the Marion tonight. The picture is beautifully done, and in spite of the fact that it is inclined to drag, you may enjoy it. Jeanette McDonald is the lottery bride. Her singing is beautiful. John Garrick is the leading man and Joe E. Brown keeps the laughs going.

Trying to save her brother's name, Jeanette is mistrusted by the boy she loves. Despondent she offers herself on the lottery wheel and her name is drawn by the boy she still loves, but knowing who the lottery bride is, he gives the ticket to his brother and goes off on an ill-fated Arctic expedition.

Jeanette starts a rescue party and the pilot of the dirigible, after it has crashed, tells Garrick the truth of the affair in which her brother was involved. Everything ends happily.

The setting is in picturesque Norway. Friml composed the music.

The trial of Charles Seckel, 67, of Caledonia, charged with grand larceny, today was continued until Saturday by common pleas court.

WILLAMAN REPLIES

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 22—"There is no present indication in the middle west that college football is about to 'die,'" Sam S. Willaman, head football coach at Ohio State university here, declared today when asked to comment on the remarks against the gridiron sport made here by W. W. "Bill" Roper, former Princeton coach, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university.

No double chin can conceal a receding one.

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

ACCORDING to announcement released yestreday the American Association baseball clubs have decided that it is best not to bite the hand that's feeding them by agreeing to accept the proposal of the major leagues on the draft question. The clubs have agreed to accept the draft system as outlined by the majors and string along with the big-timers in the baseball game.

The decision of the American Association will more than likely mean the acceptance of the same terms by other big minor league groups. The International and Pacific Coast circuits have expressed a wholehearted opposition to the plan but so did the American Association for a while. With the fall of the latter group it is probable that the other two will realize the folly of attempting to carry on without outside assistance. The three of them might have worked out a future arrangement that would have enabled them to build up a strong league although they would have found a lot of difficulty.

With one of the largest of the three now on the other side of the fence it is a hopeless task for the other two. The decision will probably work for the betterment of both the Association and the major leagues. The sooner the other two accept the plan the better for the game. One has the money, the other is developing most of the big league players. One is as essential as the other.

It won't be long now until the annual Tournament of Roses football game. Washington State, for the first time in several years will uphold the honor and glory of western football while Alabama, perennial colorbearer of the Atlantic seaboard will be fighting to keep the east's standing at the top.

Both teams are breathing defiance at each other and everything in general as they march toward the battle ground in the Rose Bowl. The Southerners are at present rated as slight favorites, that is, to everyone but the Cougars who can see no one but Hein & Co. as the ultimate winner.

The west this season is lagging behind the east in victories in intersectional games. Washington State will be out to regain some sort of revenge for this and also to demonstrate that it is one of the really great football teams of the year.

What an appropriate New Year's gift it would be for either team to win the game. For the loser—let's not talk about that.

Every village has its oldest inhabitant, but he is never a woman.

LITTLE COLLEGE FIVE LEADING CAGERS IN OHIO CONFERENCE

DePauw Has Technical Advantage in B. A. A. Basketball Title Race.

BY RALPH TEATSORTH
United Press Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 22—Little Kent State college is leading the Ohio conference basketball teams today and Depauw university, the Indiana dark horse, has a technical advantage in the Buckeye conference.

These teams are leading their respective leagues on the strength of games played last week, which doesn't mean much because only four Ohio conference teams and two Buckeye teams have played within their own circuits. The remainder of the teams will tackle their opponents in earnest after the holidays.

This week, because of Christmas, has a slender basketball program. The invasion of Brigham Young university of Salt Lake City, Utah, furnishes the only interesting games of the week. Brigham Young plays John Carroll Friday and Western Reserve Saturday. Both games will be at Cleveland.

Kent State won its second Ohio conference victory of the week Saturday night when it defeated Capital. Kent's fine playing in the last half made the victory possible. Kent also had beaten Case on Thursday night.

Heidelberg won its second major victory of the year over Ohio Wesleyan Saturday night on the basketball court. The score was 29 to 19. Dwight Haley led the Tiffinites' attack. Western Reserve's snappy team met its first defeat in three games at Syracuse, N. Y.

The Ohio conference standing follows:

Team	W.	L.
Kent State	2	0
Capital	1	1
Case	0	1
Hiram	0	1

The Buckeye Standing:

Team	W.	L.
Depauw	1	0
Cincinnati	0	1
Miami	0	0
Ohio Wesleyan	0	0
Ohio University	0	0

Vernon Heights Loses to Findlay Glenwood

The Vernon Heights Junior High basketball team met defeat on its initial road trip of the year last Friday night, losing to Glenwood Junior High of Findlay 30 to 13.

The Findlay youngsters were too fast for the locals and their passwork far outshone anything produced by the Vernon Heights team.

Vernon trailed in every period. Glenwood scored eight points in the opening quarter to none for the losers.

U. B. TOPPLED FROM UNBEATEN LIST BY TRINITY BAPTIST FIVE

Waldo Tramples Epworth To Remain in Lead; Lee St. Wins.

United Brethren basketball team was toppled from the list of undefeated fives Saturday night on the Y floor when it tackled the Trinity Baptists in a Senior Sunday school engagement. The score was 22 to 16.

Rife and Romine combined to give the defeated five 12 points but the other members of the team could not get around the superior Trinity guarding to score many points. Somerlot and Osterholt led the scoring for Trinity, each with three field goals and one foul toss.

Waldo continued on its way toward a chance for the championship of the league by trouncing the Epworth team 31 to 21. The Waldo boys outplayed the Epworth team most of the time and the difference in points about represents the difference in the abilities of the teams.

George Johnson, Epworth's star center, contributed eight points toward the Epworth total. Cline, a newcomer to the ranks of the Methodists, turned in two fielders and a charity toss for five points to trail Johnson.

St. Mary's and Lee Street Presbyterians played their scheduled game to see who would occupy the cellar, the Lee Street team coming out on top by a score of 28 to 11. H. Richards went on a scoring spree for the winners, collecting a total of 13 points on five goals and three free throws.

SPRINGFIELD TEAM IN LATE RALLY TO SWAMP IRISH TEAM

St. Mary's Loses 33-11 After Playing Close Game 3 Periods.

St. Mary's parochial cagers took their second lacing in as many nights Saturday when the Springfield Catholic Central outfit put on a last period scoring spurt that left the local Irish floundering behind 22 points as the game ended. The score was 33 to 22.

St. Mary's started the game in fairly good fashion, giving the Springfielders a battle all of the way. Neither team did much scoring in the early part of the game, the count standing 4-2 for the winners at the end of the first period. Both fives doubled the count in the second period, leaving the score at 8-4 as the half ended.

In the second half Springfield started to pull away from the locals although they could gain but a 12-6 margin by the end of the quarter.

In the final period something happened to either waken up the Springfield team or else put the St. Mary's five to sleep. When the smoke of the scoring battle had cleared up St. Mary's was so far behind there was no chance of over-hauling the victors.

Tht St. Mary's coach shifted his line-up around for the game in an effort to find a higher scoring combination but it failed to produce the desired results.

FRANKIE GENARO TO FIGHT WOLGAST FOR FLYWEIGHT CROWN

First Title Scrap in 112-Pound Division in Several Years.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22—Frankie Genaro of New York and Midget Wolgast of Philadelphia clash in Madison Square Garden Friday night in a 15-round bout that should give the flyweight division its first generally recognized champion in several years.

Genaro is recognized as 112-pound king by the National Boxing association while Wolgast is champion in the eyes of the New York and Pennsylvania state athletic commissions. Barring a draw, a new and rightful holder of the crown should emerge.

Genaro, at 29, is a true veteran of the ring. He won N. B. A. recognition as flyweight title-holder by winning a Canadian elimination tournament two years ago. In much the same manner, Wolgast survived the field in an elimination tournament conducted by the Garden last spring.

This bout is the only one of any importance on the national schedule, most other boxing centers forgetting about the cauliflowers until after the holidays.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Marion grocers are doing their share to make this Christmas a merry one by refusing to "hike" prices on foods for the Christmas dinner. The usual pre-holiday tendency of prices is toward higher levels, but grocers this year are holding prices to normal quotations.

Although they are charging no more for their produce, grocers are busy stocking the shelves with select fruits and vegetables in anticipation of good Tuesday and Wednesday trading. The first Christmas shopping influence was felt in groceries Saturday, boosting the day's sales above normal.

Oysters may be purchased between 70 and 80 cents a quart.

WHEAT VALUES AGAIN SLUMP

Argentine Surplus Forces Prices Down Despite Federal Assistance.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 22—With the Liverpool wheat prices down to the bottom-most quotations since 1895, wheat here averaged much lower today. Corn and oats also established a new all-around low record for the season.

The chief immediate dominating influence was Argentine government crop estimates implying 200,000,000 bushels exportable wheat surplus, an amount 120,000,000 bushels more than last season.

Opening 1¼ cents off to a shade advance, Chicago July delivery of wheat showed but little power to rally although government-backed agencies held other deliveries stable. Corn started unchanged to 1¼ cents off, and subsequently underwent a general setback.

Adding to the drag on wheat were Washington reports to the department of agriculture indicating Russia would seed 186,807,600 acres of spring wheat, an increase of about 19 per cent over last year. Advices also were current that foreign countries were showing decided reluctance to purchase on account of prospective big supplies in the southern hemisphere. Reports were also at hand that notwithstanding smallness of millers' stocks abroad, European warehouses were being replenished by adequate arrivals from wheat exporting countries.

Downward swings of corn and oats received their impetus from the action of July delivery of wheat, traders generally ignoring the effect of a virtual corner which farm board allies have established in domestic old crop deliveries of wheat. The bearish influence which the Argentine government crop report exercised on July wheat here was intensified by Buenos Aires cables to Chicago houses saying the government report seemed to have been prepared with great care, and that the figures given were pehaps slightly conservative. Moreover, unofficially over 25,720,000 bushels of old crop ove of 25,720,000 bushels of old wheat Jan. 1 next, making the exportable Argentine wheat surplus 209,000,000.

Provisions declined with grain.

All foods requiring eggs, b and flour will be decidely ch than normal. Butter prices we low as 32 cents a pound today to an oversupply. Eggs were i same boat, selling as low a cents a dozen, the lowest De ber prices in years.

Flour was quoted at 53 ce 24½ pound sack today, an record low figure not matche recent years.

Oranges of select quality wi plentiful and cheap, grocers vised. The same is true of potatoes, celery and dozens other foods which round ou complete Christmas menu.

Love's Reawakening

A Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy.

BY ADELE GARRISON

Marion's Request for the "Fortune Box"

MARION'S request for her grandmother's lock box with her "fortune" in it, was like the ringing of a warning bell deep in my consciousness. What lay behind her apparently simple request, I could not determine. But there were fantastic even sinister—possibilities lurking in the background which I could not afford to overlook. I must be wary, for above everything I must not arouse the young girl's antagonism.

"I'm sorry, dear," I said, "but I haven't it for you. It isn't here. It's down in the safety deposit vault in the back and of course it's a holiday even if you were wise to take it out."

I don't understand," she said, the slightest suspicion of a pout on her winsome face. "I thought you were keeping that in your room."

The Burglary

"I kept it there," I said, "until the attempted robbery of the farmhouse."

Mrs. Mume told me burglars broke in the house, but she couldn't imagine what they were after as there was nothing."

"Because she knows nothing of the possibly valuable secret in grandmother's box holds," I added. "I don't want to alarm you, but your room was the only one that night. If the box had been there instead of in the bottom of my trunk where I had been you entrusted it to me, I'm afraid you never would see it again."

Marion said ruefully. Then she sparkled with excitement. "Now the reason you telephoned let you show the box to ..."

"I have had no opportunity for a conversation long enough to tell you," I said furiously.

"You've been pretty busy," she ... sighed, then swept on into ... questioning.

"Was the 'someone' and was the reason you put the box in ... 'someone' was my father." I ... and he naturally advised carrying the box to the bank after we had satisfied ourselves it had not been disturbed. He said that the burglars had been frightened off once, but that they might come again."

"Oh! boy!" Marion spun around on her toes and clapped her hands gleefully. "It's all just like a movie. Won't Carol be pepped up when she hears of this? You can get the box out of the bank tomorrow, can't you, long enough so she can see it and know I'm not dreaming."

"Marion!" I grasped. "You don't mean you've told Carolyn anything about that box?"

She stopped her impromptu dance, and came to a halt before me, her eyes wide with astonishment.

"Why not?" she asked naively. "She's my 'roomie,' isn't she?"

"Be careful!" something whispered inside me, and I promptly hedged. I know something of the intense loyalty which sometimes exists between "roomies" in girls' boarding schools.

Mr. Veritzen Arrives

"Yes, I had forgotten that," I said smoothly. "Of course, you tell her everything. But you see this was something so very special. Didn't your grandmother give it to you when she was near death, and ask you to keep its contents a secret?"

"I think she was most anxious that Mother shouldn't know about it for some reason or other," Marion said with a quickness which told me she already had argued this question with herself. "And you know I gave it to you, because—I was so foolish—and mean about my stepfather then."

"But you did entrust it to me," I said slowly, "and I believe it will be safer in my keeping than if I turn it over to you to take back to school."

"Oh! I don't want to do that!" she cried. "I just wanted to show Carolyn that secret drawer."

"I think that could be arranged," I smiled, relieved that she did not want to take the box away.

"Oh! you darling!" Marion cajoled, hugging me, "and now for the other. Do you know if Mumsie and Dad and I stay here for dinner tonight, you'll have sixteen at the table and Mrs. Brixton will have only eleven!"

"Poor Mrs. Brixton!" I gibed, to hide my dismay at what I knew she was going to ask me.

"And Carol and her mother wanted to know if you'd care very much if we three went over there for dinner. We're all coming back here as you invited us, right afterwards you know. Won't you say 'yes'?"

"That isn't mine to say, Marion," I said, trying to keep my voice steady for the idea of Christmas dinner without Lillian was unnerving. Then as the sound of a musical motor horn sounded from the road, and Marion danced to the window exclaiming, "It's Mr. Veritzen," I reflected drearily that it did not matter who did or did not eat Christmas dinner with us. It would be spoiled for me anyway by the presence at our board of my employer, whose persistence in gifts had so nearly upset Dicky's temper.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

YESTERDAY was Sunday, and cold. Boy! I was sorry for Jubilee when I opened the window to let him down by the rope in his teeth. Where the end of the rope had got wet from being in his mouth when I pulled him up by it last night it was froze as hard as a rock. I was sorry for him, and he was so busy being sorry for himself that he didn't have any time to be sorry for me standing there in my shirttail, but I was sorry for both of us.

Hopper and Whitey and the girls were the only ones that came to the barn before I got done milking the cow and her dotter. Hopper is our crip, and his folks dress him warm because he is all they have got and they are careful of him. He wears underclothes and has a long overcoat, and Whitey wears underclothes and an overcoat and carries a handkerchief, but he can fight. The milk from on the side of the milk pail whilst I milked. The girls got cold and went in the house, and when I went in with Whitey and Hopper my grandfather said that the paper said four people had froze to death out west. I don't blame them.

My father asted the girls if they knowed I had five dollars and was going to buy the turkey for Christmas, and they said that was fine, but I could see that Younias was supprized. I said that the people that froze to death probably had cows they had to milk. They all laughed. It is different when a fella has got money and is maybe going to buy a turkey. But I know the way my ant washed me she don't think she is going to get a Christmas present. She is right. There wasn't any Sunday school, because the church was so cold the stove wouldn't warm it. Then we went to my house and they all stayed till they saw they weren't going to be asted to dinner.

After dinner we went down to the hill and made a big fire out of some old fence boards we dug out of the snow, and I was glad Mealy had a slay so she didn't have to ruin our day by standing on top of the hill and freezing to death whilst we slid. If a thing spoils a fella's day that does. Here too.

Today after breakfast my mother told us to run along because she was so busy getting ready for Christmas she couldn't be bothered, but she broke up a hot loaf of bread for us and spread it with butter and mints meat, and then we skun out and went to town and through a lot of stores, but it was so cold customers were scarce and the storekeepers watched us so close we didn't have any fun. One man told us to get out, so I pulled out my five dollars and said I would go and spend it somewhere else. Then he tried to get us to stay, but he was too fresh. After that we went and skated till milking time, and a fella can get warm skating.

The Stars Say—

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of some change or travel probably in relation to work, which should prosper fairly through industry and application. There may be favors from elderly persons but be on guard against fraud or trickery, especially in connection with letters or papers. A child born on this day should be industrious, responsible and skilful in many directions, leaning to original research and invention. It may be fond of change and travel and win the assistance of elderly persons or institutions.

STORE ROBBERS KIDNAP FAMILY

Halt Clevelanders on Way Home from Church, Loot Safe of $1,000.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 22—A masked gunmen, who last night kidnaped Howard Blakely, manager of a chain store, his wife and two daughters, forcing Blakely to unlock the store safe and hand over a loot of $1,000 was sought by police today.

The holdup took place after Blakely and his family had attended church and were enroute to their home. When Blakely was unable to start his automobile which had been parked in the rear of the store, he and his family began walking toward their home.

The three bandits drove alongside and forced the three women and Blakely to enter their machine. They took them to the store where Blakely was compelled to unlock the safe. After obtaining the money, the gunmen escaped in Blakely's car.

Police believe the robbers had tampered with Blakely's machine, inasmuch as they drove away in it after the store manager had failed to get it started.

ESCAPES FROM JAIL

Ohio Prisoner Saws Way Out, Commandeers Taxi to Aid Flight.

By The Associated Press

CHILLICOTHE, O., Dec. 22—Somewhere in southern Ohio today is a man whom federal agents, police and a taxicab driver would like to catch up with.

He is George Fairbanks, held in the county jail here until last night when he sawed his way to freedom, and forced a taxicab driver to drive him from a roadhouse near here to Portsmouth. Fairbanks, who was arrested Dec. 17, for stealing and transporting a South Bend, Ind., automobile to Chillicothe was held pending the arrival of federal officers from the Indiana city to return him for violation of the Dyer act.

About 9 p. m. Sunday he sawed his way from the jail, went to a roadhouse and summoned a cab. When he entered the cab he pressed a gun into the driver's ribs and forced him to drive him to Portsmouth where he left the cab.

Wins Promise of Cigar for Finding Large Sum

By International News Service

NEW YORK—For returning a package containing $15,000 John Noberine's reward was a promise. A promise of a cigar.

A mysterious stranger entered John's lunch wagon in Long Island City, ordered coffee and doughnuts, ate them, and walked out, leaving a little package behind. John found it and put it aside for the stranger's return.

Soon he returned breathless and excited. The package, he explained, contained the large sum of money. Had John found it? John turned it over. The stranger was profuse in his thanks.

"I'll be back tonight and buy you a good cigar," he promised John. But he wasn't, and didn't.

How To Be Good Hubby Set Forth by Minister

By International News Service

KANSAS CITY—If you would be an ideal husband you must be neat, in good health, ambitious for yourself and family, sympathize with your wife's views and pleasant to her friends.

That was the gist of a sermon on "Do's and Don'ts for Husbands" preached here by the Rev. R. Melvyn Thompson.

"Important elements in the home," Rev. Thompson said, "are self control, intelligence, love, thoughtfulness, appreciation and character."

What to do when an "in-law" situation arises was not discussed by Rev. Thompson.

PRICE OF EGGS REMAINS LOW

Under Depressing Effect of Cheap Meat, Bulletin Reports.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec 22—Meat is having a depressing effect on prices, according to a bulletin issued here today by the Agricultural Bureau Corporation.

The bureau says wholesale prices of eggs have been reduced despite much heavier consumption, a result, but the market has responded to the lower prices. This lack of response is in part due to competition of cheap meats.

New York top egg is under the dozen as against a November top of around 57 cents and rarely break during the month of December. Central states are now selling to retailers around 30 cents a dozen, which means that the prevailing price in the country as in the 25-cent range.

Storage Eggs Cheap

Storage eggs are wholesaling at low prices, but sales are disappointing. Apparently people who would buy cheap eggs in ordinary times are more inclined to turn to meats or else not buy at all.

The production of eggs in California has been heavy and this unusual production has had a depressing influence on the better grades of eggs. It is reported that the collection of eggs is considerably larger than was expected.

Eggs in storage at the first of December are reported by the government to amount to 4,150,000 cases of 30 dozens, against 2,631,000 cases last year. In addition to the case eggs in storage there is the case equivalent of frozen eggs which amounts to 2,559,000 against 1,765,000 last year. The total including both cased and frozen eggs amounts to 6,709,000 cases as compared with 4,396,000 last year.

Stock Staying Up

More recent figures than the first of December indicate that the supply of storage eggs is not declining quite as fast as occurred last year. The burden is apparently too much for the market to absorb.

Storage poultry is in more favorable situation from the farmers standpoint than last year with only 83,000,000 pounds reported as against 116,000,000 last year. Poultry is now selling at low prices in the cities with the outlook favoring high prices for the holiday season.

The desire for the public for dressed poultry still seems to be strong and it appears that this meat takes first place in sales when prices have been reduced to the proper basis. The supplies of poultry in storage are under last year with a government report of 83,000,000 pounds against 116,000,000 a year ago. The five year average Dec 1 storage accumulation is slightly under 86,000,000 pounds.

Cashier Catches Cough

Feels Top Notch Again Same Afternoon

I am a cashier in a restaurant and have got to sit near the door where there is a continual draft. One morning I caught a terrible cold and cough. My boss went out and got some Smith Brothers' Syrup. I took it and that very afternoon I lost my cough completely. I didn't lose any time in my work. Believe me, Smith Brothers sure saved me some money there!—Anna Briscoe, 417 North Clark Street, Chicago, Ill.

THE biggest contributor to the Christmas seal fund being raised by the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis league was added to the list today.

The contribution was in the form of a bill for nearly $45 for poster advertising which the manager of the company returned to the league headquarters marked "paid."

Checks for $25 have been received from several donors but the action of the outdoor advertising company in checking the $45 item off its books places it above the others, according to Dr. F. E. Mahla, president of the league.

What a Shame

ONE of the most popular pastimes of those obliged to habitate the city prison is to inscribe names, alleged poems, ditties, addressees and what-have-you on the walls, bunks, floors and even the bars of the gaol.

This popular indoor sport has taken a severe setback however. As the boys who frequent the prison house would say it, the police have "pulled a fast one."

No longer does the interior of the prison present a fairly clean yellow surface ideal for inscriptions. Instead it is a decided bleak. Lead pencils and dirty fingernail marks will no longer play their part in the interior decorations of the city's "hoosegow."

It will remain for a witty prisoner with a piece of chalk in his pocket to bring interior decorating back to its former plane in city prison.

"Big Bill" Thompson is out as a candidate for a fourth term as mayor of Chicago. That town certainly has more than its fair share of grief.

President Hoover announces that the United States will expend over $700,000,000 on public works the coming calendar year, which is $450,000,000 more than thus expended during the fiscal year 1928-1929. Pretty soon we are going to begin to become optimistic in the belief that that much-discussed "corner" has really been turned.

Christmas holiday rail travel, both transcontinental and to the south is booming, the volume being fully as great as it was last season, if not greater. Sure! A whole lot of us didn't get caught in that Wall Street jam of fourteen months ago!

Police Commissioner Mulrooney, of New York City, has organized a bureau to round up and investigate all aliens with criminal records looking to their deportation. One may know more of the merit of such a bureau after it has operated for a time. A tree is to be judged by its fruit.

Selecting a Police Chief.

We are told that four phases of ability and fitness are to be considered in determining the selection of a new city chief of police. In grading the many applicants for the position, training and experience will count twenty-five per cent. of the total grade; physical fitness as manifested by a medical examination will determine twenty-five per cent. more; personal fitness will count for thirty per cent., and answers to practical questions will represent the remaining percentage. The three applicants having the highest grades will be certified to Safety Director T. E. Sonnanstine, and he will name one of the three to serve a probationary period of ninety days. If the one thus selected makes evident his fitness for the place, his appointment will be made permanent.

Though not familiar with the methods usually followed in the selection of police chiefs, we understand that some system of grading is necessary to determine the qualifications of the various candidates. We can appreciate the fact that a man physically unfit, either through lack of health or otherwise, could hardly prove an ideal police chief, and that this would be true as well of one not mentally equipped for the place. It is easy to understand that a man with the ability to handle the men under him would be far more effective than one who could not. We can understand that a man having the ability to read the character of men would have an advantge over one not thus possessed. There are many qualifications essential to the making of a good police chief and many weaknesses which might make an otherwise good man impossible for such a position.

But at this particular time—and we do not refer to this particular day, week or month, but to this period when all law-enforcement forces are subjected to every method possible to bring about their corruption—it seems that the foremost qualification for the position of police chief should be good moral character and sterling honesty. More than at any other period in the history of the country, if not in all history, there is need of police officers who can not be bought, who can in no way be corrupted; men who can in no manner be influenced to subrogate the interests of the community to their own personal advantage.

Were the police departments of the various municipalities of the country made up of incorruptible men, the reign of crime from which this country is suffering could not endure sixty days. Had the country's police departments been made up of honest men, gangster rule would never have had its inception. We appreciate the fact that big city police departments are offerring corrupt courts, and crooked lawyers as alibis, but were our policemen made up wholly of honest men, corrupt judges and crooked lawyers who sell themselves to crime could make little, if any, headway in thwarting justice. It's the combination of the three which makes the present situation possible. Were the selection of a police chief left to us, moral character and incorruptibility would outweigh all other considerations, and this is said without thought of advantage or disadvantage to any one of the various candidates for the local police chieftainship.

Looking to Washington.

Speaking in opposition to the extension of federal control through the instrumentality of the pending maternity bill of Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, the proposed successor to the Sheppard-Towner act which lapsed June 30, 1929, Senator Willard E. Tydings, of Maryland, told the members of the upper house of congress that the legislative branch of the federal government becomes no better than a glorified city council when it extends meddling hands into the local affairs of Wheeling, West Virginia; Bangor, Maine; San Antonio, Texas, Seattle, Washington, or any other municipality and tells it how to proceed to raise its babies. "How far is the federal government going to continue this mad march of invasion?" he asked.

"We act the part of mayor and city council, dictating what local conduct shall be, with legislation dealing with foreign affairs, and interstate commerce stacked up in committee rooms because we have not time to deal with it. And the laws are made by some little bureaucrat sitting in his little office.

"The same argument and viewpoint lay behind the demand for prohibition," he said. "Local governments were supposed to be unable to handle the situation. The federal government stepped in, invading a purely personal, local, state matter. What happened? Instead of emptying the jails, eliminating deaths from alcoholism, wiping out crime, exactly the opposite has happened. It is time that this country learned the lesson of the prohibition failure."

Both Senator Jones, the father of the bill under discussion and Senator Sheppard, of Texas, defended the maternity measure, holding that federal support is necessary in maternity and infant welfare work to make progress in the various states, and the former cited the fact that the government had made appropriations for fighting animal tuberculosis and hog cholera without objection of members of congress. "It seems to me," he concluded, "that mothers and children are more important than farm animals."

The fact that appropriations may have been made for this or that purpose does not signify that they should be made for another. Appropriations thus made may have been without justification. It may be revealed, in this connection, that congress made a $10,000,000 appropriation for fighting the boll weevil, which resulted chiefly to the stimulation of machinery for fighting the weevil, giving jobs to the unemployed political faithful and decided damage to agricultural interests, the onward progress of the weevil going unchecked.

However, we are not to be taken as implying the Jones bill as an unworthy one or as holding that it is in any way to be compared with many others that have been enacted into laws and found to be without real merit. But speaking without regard to the virtue of the bill opposed by the Maryland senator, there must be admission that there is a growing tendency of the country to look to Washington for the support of, or relief from, this, that or the other thing which, if permitted to go on, will finally bring about the centralization of all government, state and municipal, as well as federal, in Washington with the inevitable result that ours will become a bureaucratic form of government rather than a representative, and of all forms of government that, in the final analysis, is the most expensive, the most inefficient and the most worthless.

The royal commission on employment insurance, sitting in London, was told by the permanent secretary of the British Labor government's ministry of labor that the dole system in operation in Great Britain is a peril to the nation, working as it does to retard industry. Was it ever anticipated that paying men to loaf would encourage them to go to work?

A Vienna scientist reports, following a long series of experiments, that an extra-terrestrial ray discovered by him is ten times as penetrating as the strongest radium ray and will pass through eighty inches of lead plate with a loss of but half its power. The world is just beginning to learn how little it knows of the great scheme of things.

Lack of room making it impossible to locate on its grounds an aviation field for the use of the regulation style of planes, the Vatican has purchased three heliocopters. Let's see! Have we not here a case of state, which goes back in its history beyond any other in its present form, being the first to take to the innovation?

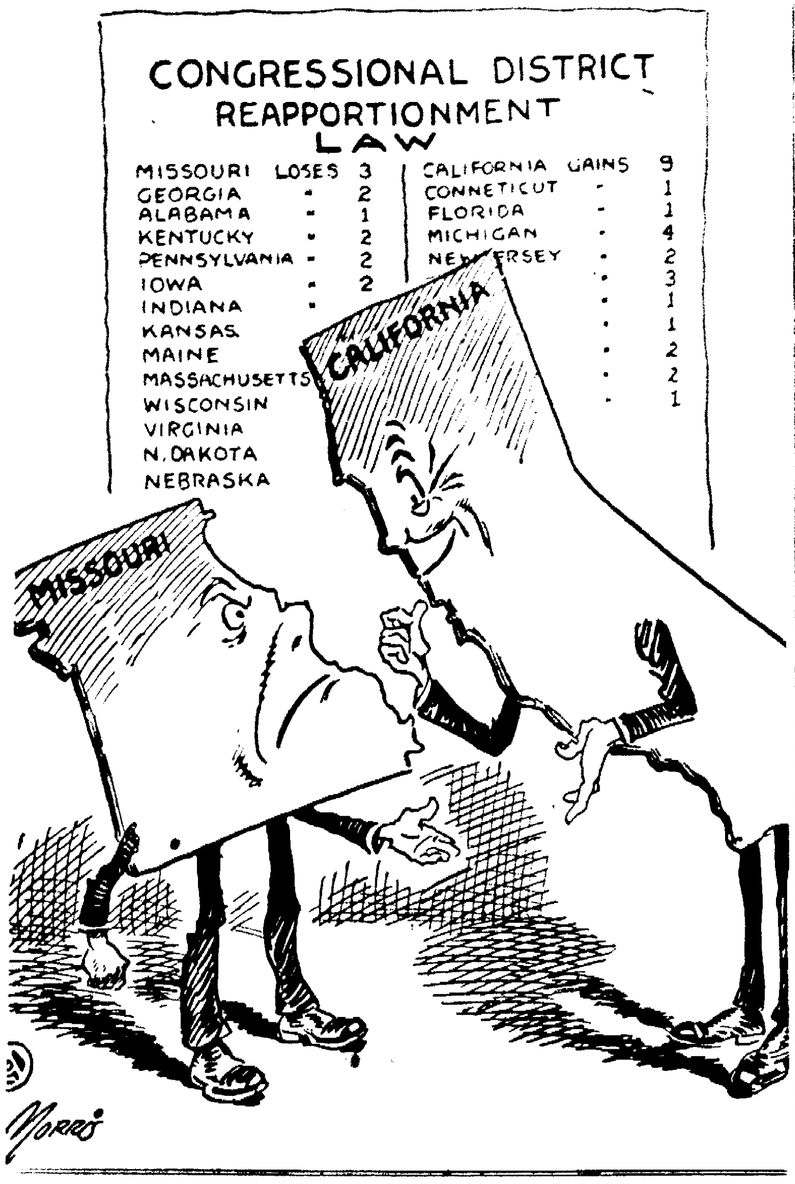
A bandit and a young woman aide held up the box office of the Chicago Civic opera-house and got away with two goodly-sized rolls of money. Doesn't look right. The Chicago opera management has been losing enough money, as it was, along ordinary lines without having to suffer loss by the way of the Windy City's normal collecting system.

The plan of the employed members of the railroad brotherhoods represented in Seattle, to give up part of their time to unemployed railroad workers, is spreading all over the country, and is expected soon to be nation-wide in its scope. Here's one method of relief which is open for adoption by any organized body of workers.

Certain American business circles are backing a plan by which the United States would either make soviet Russia a big loan or guarantee American exporters against loss on any sales they might suffer by selling to the bolsheviki. Since American business would profit in any event, it's easy to understand its liking for the proposal. The championship of the plan by Senator Borah, however, is probably due solely to his great love for "those dear Russians."

Premier Steeg's French government was saved from being overthrown on the first vote since its organization by only seven votes, and it would have been overthrown then had it not been, upon discovering the adverse character of the vote taken, that enough deputies changed their votes to make the total 291 to 284 in favor of the government. The French law-makers put on some funny things, but it is not for us of America to criticize them. We have a congress over here.

CALIFORNIA; "ISN'T THE NEW LAW PERFECTLY GRAND?" MISSOURI: "THEY'LL HAVE TO SHOW ME. I'M FROM MISSOURI."



Editorial Opinion.

THE CAPITAL GAINS TAX.

"A most serious gap in the existing revenue laws arises from the treatment of capital transactions," declared Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, in his annual report for 1922. "The law taxes capital gains and recognizes capital losses, but the taxpayer retains the initiative and refrains from realizing capital gains while taking deductible losses." • • •

It was this problem that caused many sound students of the financial markets a year and a half ago to agitate for the elimination or reduction of the capital gains tax. There was a widespread feeling that the tax was, if not a prime cause, at least a contributing element in the artificiality of the security markets, the credit market, and interest rates that were prevailing at that time. With this law on the statute books investors and speculators with large paper profits, it was generally believed, were disinclined to record the latter. "If," one economist wrote at the time, "we could check up on the people leaning on borrowed money it would be found that there are an overwhelming number of holders who, because of this tax, do not sell. • • • Men who are holding securities and desire to purchase additional securities • • • do not sell those they have, but • • • borrow either through their brokers or directly through their bankers the funds necessary for such purposes, thereby placing an added burden on the credit structure."

President Hoover took definite cognizance of the importance of this question in his message to congress a fortnight ago when he observed: "It is urged by many thoughtful citizens that the peculiar economic effect of the income tax on so-called capital gains is to enhance speculative inflation and likewise impede business recovery. I believe this to be the case, and I recommend that a study be made of the economic effects of this tax and of its relation to the general structure of our income tax law."

Representative Isaac Bacharach, of New Jersey, member of the ways and means committee and the joint committee on internal revenue taxation, suggests several possible courses that may be pursued in remedying the unsatisfactory situation growing out of this levy. One is that capital gains and losses should be eliminated from the scope of the income tax. A second is that the provision be left unchanged for the present. A third is that the rate be reduced from the present 12½ per cent. to 7½ per cent. A fourth is that a graduated scale be adopted under which 100 per cent. of the gain or loss be deducted if the property is disposed of within two years, with the percentage declining gradually until the holder of property for fifteen years would not be subject to any tax on his gains or credited with any deduction for his losses.

Whatever the respective merits of the first three proposals and we are inclined to feel that either elimination or substantial reduction is to be desired—certainly the last named suggestions seems to go utterly wide of the mark. It would offer every inducement for the holder of property, whether real or personal, to dump the latter on the market when prices were low and to hold on when prices were high. Instead of overcoming the defects of the present law this, it seems to us, would, if anything, accentuate them. New York Herald Tribune.

Speaking of Noise Producers

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Thursday, December 22

Twenty-one firemen and police were known to have lost their lives when the walls of a burning factory in Philadelphia crashed; and ten Chicago firemen were known to be dead and twenty-five more more missing as the result of a fire in the Nelson, Morris & Company packing plant in Chicago.

The state supreme court decided that John A. Key was entitled to $2,000 fees collected by him when county recorder which the examiner held were illegally collected.

Stifled by Aching Feet.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

If a person is to be happy he must have foot health. As a matter of fact the feet play a large part in the welfare. Unhealthy conditions of the feet can upset the entire nervous system, and cause all sorts of physical disabilities.

Probably no foot ailment is more common, particularly among women, than bunions. They are troublesome and deforming.

These are due to enlargement of the sac covering the joint which is formed by the lower bone of the large toe and the head of the connecting bone of the top of the foot. They sometimes form on other joints of the foot.

The present-day tendency of women to wear extremely pointed toe shoes with an equally extremely high heel has its disadvantages. Many times the shoe is too short. The toes can not possibly follow the straight line of the foot, which is the right position for the toes. Instead the great toe is pressed inwardly. This causes the joint sac to become irritated and inflamed. The result is a deformity of the foot which is both painful and unsightly.

If the trouble is taken quickly and a correctly-shaped shoe is worn, the toe will resume its natural position. But when the deformity becomes excessive, it becomes necessary, in many cases, to resort to an operation.

However, if the trouble is not beyond local treatment, a great deal of comfort may be had by the use of felt bunion-plasters. These protect the foot against pressure from the shoe. If there is great irritation of the joint it is well to apply iodine, ichthyol or some other soothing liniment. When there is excessive inflammation of the joint, the only one who can help you will be a competent foot specialist, a podiatrist, or doctor.

A correctly-fitting shoe has a tendency to make the wearer stand and walk correctly. The weight falls on the heel and on the ball of the foot, with the toes pointing straight ahead not pointing out.

A shoe should fit snugly around the portion of the foot just back of the heel, as well as the part just back of the ball of the foot, or waist of the foot. The shoe must be wide enough to accommodate the toes without too much squeezing. If there is a weak arch, it is well to have a more rigid shank than the usual pliable arch provides. This will prevent undue strain of the muscles.

Many a backache has come from wearing the wrong shoes. Your efficiency, ability and ambition can be stifled by aching feet. Why have them?

Buy comfortable shoes. Shoes can be had that combine comfort and good looks. They make for good foot health and stronger nerves, and greater efficiency.

Is Science Becoming Meaningless?

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON

The alarming tendency of contemporary science especially in the field of physics, is toward a certain incoherence which is very confusing to the average man and woman. Is science tending to return to a sort of magic mocus-pocus? Are physics reverting to mysticism, astronomy to astrology? Is Einstein a new-century reincarnation of Friar Bacon, relativity a complicated system of higher numerology? How shall we disengage the solid, substantial truth from clouds of whirling electrons, blinding flashes of protons, the jerky energetics of quanta?

Any of the young theoretical physicists of today will tell you, says Eddington, that the basis of all the phenomena that come within their province is a scheme of symbols connected by mathematical equations. That is what the physical boils down to when probed by the methods which a physicist can apply—a skeleton scheme of symbols.

The old simplicities have given way to the new complexities. In the presence of physics we may soon have to admit that physiology is beginning to approach the limit of its powers. In spite of the beauty and significance of many of the newer discoveries in science, the discouraging thought arises that perhaps, after all, nature is a mystery too deep for the comprehension of human intelligence in its present stage of development.

As the world of science confronted the universe for the past three centuries, it saw in nature an orderly picture of unity and harmony. Nature was a scheme of felicitous orderliness, effect followed cause with immitigable certainty. Nature proceeded according to a scheme of laws, accurately formulated. It was a unit, with all its parts in demonstrable relatedness. The laws of evolution, of universal gravitation, of the conservation of energy, for example, were there to resolve our doubts and clarify our difficulties.

This new world of post-Newtonian physics, according to Bridgman, calls for a new picture. We are, he says, discovering that "nature is intrinsically and in its elements neither understandable nor subject to law." This is an exaggerated and epigrammic statement of a state of affairs which is very real and not to be denied.

Perhaps we have erred too far, in one direction, in assuming that nature is essentially orderly. The object of science is to classify, order, and arrange data; and to formulate the rules which govern classes of phenomena. Indeed, science has been defined as an attempt to set in order the facts of experience. But the query naturally arises, in many fields of science today, is this: Is nature herself orderly? May it not be that this is a very irregular universe?

Take, for example, the puzzling notion advanced by Heisenberg, known as the principle of uncertainty. It is a principle derived from equations set up by Heisenberg to describe phenomena inside atomic structure. As formulated by Bridgman: Heisenberg's principle states that the ultimately possible occuracy of our measurements is limited in a curious and unsuspected way.

There is no limit to the accuracy which we can describe—or measure—any one quality in a physical situation, but if we elect to measure one thing accurately we pay a price in our ability to measure some other thing accurately.

The meaning of the fact that it is impossible to measure exactly both the position and velocity of the electron may be paradoxically stated to be that an electron can not have both position and velocity.

The physicists of today are beginning to formulate such paradoxes, fascinated by the allurements of the newer puzzles which recent physical discoveries have presented to their view. The common sense answer to such a paradox is that it is, like all paradoxes, a spectacular, but deceptive, statement, with a certain semblance of truth. Heisenberg's principle proceeds from inadequate formulation of the physical phenomena. The position and velocity of the electron may simultaneously be determined, when some new physicist improves upon Heisenberg's imperfect description of nature's processes.—Copyright, 1930, by International Feature Service, Inc.

Ohio Newspaper of the Old Days.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

A copy of the Democrat-Sentinel published at Cadiz, many years ago, was examined recently by the writer. It was run by Charles N. Allen, whom many remember still as holding several appointive state offices at Columbus in his later life. The date on the newspaper is September 7, 1853. It was a weekly newspaper, appearing every Wednesday.

A campaign was under way, and Editor Allen presented the entire state and county tickets at his editorial "masthead." William Medill was the party's candidate for governor, James Meyers for lieutenant governor, Thomas W. Bartley for supreme judge, John G. Breslin for treasurer of the state, William Trevitt for secretary of the state, Wayne Griswold for member of the state board of public works, George W. McCook for attorney general and Hiram H. Barney for commissioner of schools.

No mention is made of the opposing candidates. As a matter of fact, Nelson Barere was the Whig opponent of Medill. This issue carried Judge John McLean's opinion in the fugitve slave law case involving the constitutionality, and the editor expressed the conviction that the opinion was written with the writer's candidacy for the presidency in view and ventures the suggestion that it would not help him very much.

On the editorial page the editor set down what were in his opinion the true principles of Jeffersonian Democracy, and it is interesting to note that among them is "free and universal suffrage." His party, if memory serves, did not whole-heartedly support women's suffrage when the test came.

The issue also carried news of the death of Jacob Bimeler, head of the communistic society at Zoar, Ohio, and wonder is expressed as to how the communal property would be disposed of. As a matter of fact the institution was continued for many years.

DRIVER OF MACHINE SUED BY PASSENGER

David F. Schwartz Asks $10,500 Damages After Auto Accident.

David F. Schwartz, a passenger in the defendant's automobile, today filed suit in common pleas court against Harry G. Kohbarger, contractor, for $10,500 damages as the result of an accident in which Schwartz claims to have received injuries to his neck, spine and right arm.

Schwartz recites that last Jan. 9 he was riding in Kohbarger's automobile at the latter's invitation when the machine skidded at a turn on state route 23 south of Carey, causing it to turn over in the ditch.

The plaintiff claims that Kohbarger, in attempting to make the left-hand turn, cut the curve sharply and hit the left birm or shoulder of the road. The steering gear locked, sending the car into the ditch on the right hand side of the road, he avers.

The petition accuses the defendant of being careless, negligent and reckless.

The law firm of Donithen & Donithen represents the plaintiff.

Employer Denies Charge

A denial that the death of Arnold Haynes was due directly to his employment is contained in an answer filed today in common pleas court by the defendant in the case of Hazel Haynes against the state industrial commission.

The defendant admits that Haynes breathed muriatic acid fumes while working for the La-Rue Construction Co. but denies that the fault lay in the company for which he worked.

In her petition for workmen'scompensation, the plaintiff claimed that her husband inhaled fumes of a muriatic acid solution while cleaning the walls of the Claridon Centralized school, and that his death on Sept. 22, 1927, was due to the effects of breathing the fumes.

The answer was filed through Prosecuting Attorney Alfred Donithen. The law firm of Mouser, Young, Mouser & Wiant represents the plaintiff.

FOUR STOLEN AUTOS RETURNED TO OWNER

Thieves Busy Over Week-End; Owners Report Pilfering to Police.

Automobile stealing and pilfering kept police busy during the week-end, their reports show.

Four automobiles were stolen, later found, and returned to their owners, according to police. An automobile stolen from Bucyrus was found here and returned to that city. A truck was stolen from a garage, and flashlights and a revolver was stolen from two parked automobiles.

A Plymouth coupe stolen Saturday night from Charles Buckingham of 1055 Uncapher avenue was was found yesterday on Curve street. A Nash sedan taken from C. B. Thomas of 286 Hane avenue was also found and returned. Other automobiles returned include a Chevrolet coach stolen from Viola Dilsaver of Hudson court and a Chrysler coach belonging to a Mrs. Northrup, who gave her address to police as 305 Oak street.

CHALLENGE ON NORRIS FACES G. O. P. HEADS

their full duty to the party which has come down to us from Lincoln."

This boldly worded declaration stands today under the official heading of "Republican National Committee." Lucas assumed full responsibility for the statement.

Listed as Republican

Norris won renomination as a Republican in the Nebraska primary last summer and defeated Gilbert M. Hitchcock, the Democratic nominee, in the election. He has aligned himself with the Republicans in congress on organization during his 27 years service. His vote is necessary to give Republicans control of the next senate. He campaigned against Herbert Hoover and for Alfred E. Smith in 1928, but no effort was made by the senate Republican leadership to take away his place in the party organization which gives him the chairmanship of the judiciary committee.

In his reply to the severe condemnation heaped upon him by Senators Norris and Howell in the senate on Saturday, Lucas yesterday denied that he had sponsored the circulation of "scurrilous" literature against Norris. He denied also that the Ku Klux Klan had anything to do with the literature.

Senator Howell told the senate that some of the literature was "damnable" and he said the anti-Norris forces in Nebraska refused to use it. Lucas denied the literature he sent to Nebraska was calculated to appeal to religious prejudice.

A dozen Republican senators have voted with Senators Norris and Borah of Idaho in their opposition to the Hoover farm relief and tariff policies during the last session.

RIDE ON ICE FATAL

Mother and Two Children in "Ice Skidding" Party Perish.

By The Associated Press

ESCANABA, Mich., Dec. 22—Automobile "ice skidding," a new sport on the northern lakes, cost the lives yesterday of a mother and two children. A man, who was driving the automobile in which they were passengers, was seriously injured.

Mrs. Elmer Klassel, 32, and her children, Eugene, 13, and Betty Jane, 4, were drowned in the icy waters of Little Bay de Nocquette as the automobile of Telesphore Thompson, 26, a boarder in the Klassel home, went through the ice.

Thompson had invited the others to take a ride and was driving over the ice, applying his brakes for the thrill of a skid. He drove out on a smooth stretch of thin ice, despite police said, the warning cry of a skater who knew it was thin.

Two Minor Auto Accidents Reported

F. A. Brady of Cleveland reported to police that a Marion motorist had collided with his automobile on Kenton pike Saturday night. No serious damage was done.

A Pontiac coupe owned by I. Glazer of Bowling Green was towed to the Haberman Chevrolet Co. by the company's wreck car after the coupe had skidded on icy pavements and struck a curb.

Autoist Finds Car Here After Reporting Holdup

F. A. Brady of Cleveland was again in possession of his automobile today after a reported holdup on Kenton avenue Saturday night. He reported to police that three men took his Dodge sedan from him after the holdup. Police later found the car parked on the city lot at Prospect and Church streets.

CHARGES NON-SUPPORT

Delmar Robinson, 32, of Alger is under a six months suspended workhouse sentence to guarantee support of his minor child four months old. Robinson was brought here by police on a warrant of Elizabeth Robinson who charged he has not provided for the child since Aug. 1. He pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned in municipal court.

for the second time, the senate having refused to back down on amendments rejected by the house. The interior and agriculture supply measures have been passed by the house but not by the senate. The Muscle Shoals deadlock between the two houses has not been broken although the gap has been narrowed considerably and leaders hope to put through an agreement.

The immediate tasks upon reconvening Jan. 5 are: For the senate, consideration of the President's six nominees to the tariff commission. They are serving under recess appointments. For the house consideration of the Vestal bill making extensive changes in the copyright system.

FIRST 1931 AUTO TAGS APPEAR HERE

Dec. 31 Is Deadline for Use of Old Plates; Rush Starts at Club.

First of the new 1931 license plates for automobiles were in evidence today as Marion motorists fell in line with motorists all over the state to keep in pace with fashion decrees of the state department of motor vehicles.

Although Sunday was the first day the new plates could legally be used, several Marionites were displaying the new "tags" Saturday.

Deadline for 1930 plates is midnight, Dec. 31. Officials have warned motorists that all persons using the old plates after that date will be liable to prosecution.

Saturday brought the first rush of motorists to the offices of the Marion Auto club to purchase new plates, according to Mrs. D. V. Gallagher, secretary. The busy season continued today and probably will keep extra employes busy until Jan. 1.
